the idea that development projects in poor countries are most effective when they harness the agency of women is a well known theme most studies of women s agency in such projects however focus on the role of non governmental organizations in facilitating women s agency this book on the other hand based on extensive original research explores how women can effectively mobilize themselves on their own initiative the book considers poor people in informal settlements in jakarta where government schemes for modernizing the city have often led to forced evictions the book examines different groups of women analyzes how they have challenged oppressive authority their husbands community leaders and local governments and provides detailed insights into women s attitudes and what has motivated them overall the book provides a rich picture of women s empowerment and disempowerment indonesia s criminal law system faces major challenges despite the country s transition to democracy both the criminal code and the criminal procedure code are badly out of date the former only superficially changed since colonial times and the latter remaining as it was under soeharto s authoritarian new order regime law enforcement officers and judges are widely seen as corrupt or incompetent and new laws including new islamic laws passed at the regional level often contradict the criminal code and national statutes including human rights laws this book based on extensive original research by leading scholars in the field provides an overall assessment of the state of criminal law law enforcement and penal policy in indonesia considers in depth a wide range of specific areas of criminal law and discusses recent efforts at reform and their prospects for success with dense urban populations located in one of the most active tectonic belts in the world indonesia is a hotspot for natural hazard risk this volume documents some of the recent advances made by earth scientists that contribute towards a better understanding of the geological hazards in the region this book examines military operations other than war mootw of the indonesian military in the post suharto period and argues that the twin development of democratic consolidation marked by stable civil military relations from 2004 to 2014 under susilo bambang yudhoyono s presidency and internationalization of the military have not yet entirely de politicized the armed forces this book shows how peacekeeping humanitarian assistance and disaster relief and counter terror missions have been reinvented by the indonesian military tentara nasional indonesia tni to adhere to its politico institutional interests rather than to divert military attention from politics in contrast with conventional arguments about the rationale of mootw in promoting military professionalism this book provides the first critical analysis of the development of these missions and correlates them with tni s concerted effort to preserve territorial command structure a military network that parallels the civilian bureaucracy down to the village level the book argues that the military in indonesia remains domestically political amidst high intensity of international activism a detailed investigation of civil military relations in indonesia this book will be of interest to scholars in the fields of southeast asian studies and asian politics and more generally to those interested in civil military relations military politics and mootw in politics in contemporary indonesia ken m p setiawan and dirk tomsa analyse the most prominent political ideas institutions interests and issues that shape indonesian politics today guided by the overarching question whether indonesia still deserves its famous label as a model muslim democracy the book argues that the most serious threats to indonesian democracy emanate from the fading appeal of democracy as a compelling narrative the increasingly brazen capture of democratic institutions by predatory interests and the narrowing public space for those who seek to defend the values of democracy in so doing the book answers the following key questions what are the dominant political narratives that underpin indonesian politics how has indonesia s institutional framework evolved since the onset of democratisation in 1998 how do competing political interests weaken or strengthen Indonesian democracy how does declining democracy affect Indonesia's prospects for dealing with its main policy challenges how does Indonesia compare to other Muslim majority states and to its regional neighbours up to date comprehensive and written in an accessible style this book will be of interest for both students and scholars of Indonesian politics Asian studies comparative politics and international relations despite carefully constructed conservation interventions deforestation in Indonesia is not being stopped this book identifies why large scale international forest conservation has failed to reduce deforestation in Indonesia and considers why key stakeholders have not responded as expected to these conservation interventions the book maps the history of deforestation in Indonesia in the context of global political economy exploring the relationship between international trade the interests and ideology behind global sustainability programmes and the failures of forest conservation in Indonesia global economic and political ideologies are shown to have profoundly shaped deforestation the author argues that the same forces continue to prevent positive outcomes case study chapters analyse three major international programmes reducing emissions from deforestation and forest degradation REDD the Norway Indonesia bilateral partnership and the Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil RSPO in Indonesia the findings provide insight into the failures of global climate change policy and suggest how the book's theoretical model can be used to analyse other complex environmental problems the book is a useful reference for students of environmental science and policy political theory international relations development and economics it will also be of interest to forestry professionals and practitioners working in NGOs despite challenges and problems in sustaining democratic norms and values in the final analysis can it honestly be said that there is no better political system for Indonesia than democracy after more than eight years of political reform it is necessary to analyze Indonesia's democratization process this book offers coherent insights into recent Indonesian politics and provides a theoretically based evaluation of the present situation such as regard to the rule of law the security sector and the politics of identity the question is raised and examined whether Churchill's famous quote about democracy being the worst form of government except all those others that have been tried from time to time holds true for Indonesia since the unraveling of western colonialism in the mid twentieth century Muslim nations have struggled to reconcile Islamic ideas and political movements with the state in Indonesia in particular Islam and the state have long been at an impasse while the ritual dimension of Islam has been allowed to flourish political Islam has been defeated by various means Islam and the state in Indonesia probes the nature and effects of this mutual suspicion in a country in which 87 percent of the people are Muslims author Bahtiar Effendy addresses the problem of the Islam state relationship in Indonesia in light of the fact that Islam contrary to stereotypes is a religion open to many interpretations and expressions by its followers as professor Effendy contends there is no legitimate political reason to place Islam in opposition to the modern political system rather the tension derives from the way islam is articulated socio culturally economically and politically in indonesia islam and the state in indonesia documents the background of this hostile relationship and analyzes the efforts of a new generation of muslim political thinkers and activists to overcome it the book also examines the state s recent moves toward accommodating political islam this book is groundbreaking both in its illumination of the past and in its insights into a way out of historic problems it will be of great interest to students scholars journalists government officials and others seeking to understand this complex and divisive arena
